Issue 3. October 2006

Lillian Robinson-You Will Be Missed

On September 20, 2006, the Principal of the Simone de Beauvoir Institute, Dr. Lillian Robinson, passed away. Lillian was a prolific and well respected scholar, having published numerous books in the field of feminist criticism and cultural studies. But her contribution to the Simone de Beauvoir Institute far exceeded that of scholarship. Lillian worked to help make the Institute a vibrant, dynamic place where students, activists, and teachers could explore together the relations between knowledge and action. She showed us all, through her own activism and organizing, that feminist knowledge is about working for a better world, a world of social justice and compassion. While Lillian has left us, the lesson that she taught us all remains. We here at the Simone de Beauvoir Institute are excited to work with you – as students, teachers, mothers, activists, organizers – to forge a world where social justice prevails. Get involved in one of the Institute's committees, attend a public lecture, organize a conference, or speak with us about possible coalitions and collaborations between the Institute and your group. Work with us to help make the world a peaceful place for the planet and all of its inhabitants.

* A public memorial service for Lillian Robinson will be held on Sunday, November 12, 2006 from 2:00 – 4:00 pm in the Loyola Chapel, located at 7141 Sherbrooke St. West. See Institute website for more information: <http://artsandscience.concordia.ca/wsdb>

A message from the Acting Principal – Viviane Namaste

Hello. For those of you who do not know me, my name is Viviane Namaste. I am the Acting Principal of the Simone de Beauvoir Institute for the fall 2006 semester. This is a time of great change and renewal here at the Institute: changes which can be both difficult and energizing.

This fall, the Institute is offering a number of new and exciting courses. In addition to our regular offerings such as "Queer Feminism," "South Asian Women" and "Black Women's Culture," several new courses round out the curriculum. Sexuality is one focus of courses this fall, exemplified in courses like "Lesbian Issues and Realities" and "Framing the Prostitute." Students interested in questions of policy and social movements are enjoying the course "State Feminism." Next term, watch out for courses like "Feminism, Race and Racism," "Marxism and Feminism," "Teaching Feminisms, Pedagogy" and "Women in Eastern Europe."

One of the things the Institute tries to do is to offer courses that will expand minds, push boundaries and further learning. Students are encouraged to suggest topics for future courses. We can't guarantee that every suggestion will become a course, but we can offer a forum to discuss the issues and to listen to the curriculum priorities identified by students.

If you have specific ideas about a course you would like to see, speak with a member of the WSSA executive (Women's Studies Students Association). You can always leave a message for WSSA in their mailbox at the Institute. You may also speak with me directly about a course you would like to see, feel free to call or drop by!

A number of different events are planned for this fall, which we hope will stimulate your mind. Check out Shiva Sadeghi's talk on Immigrant Iranian Women at the Crossroads of Tradition and Modernity, or drop by the public lecture to be given by Amita Handa, who will speak on the lives of South Asian women.

On a more administrative note, the Institute is currently in the process of hiring an additional full-time faculty person in the area of Feminism, Race and Racism. The Hiring Committee is meeting soon to discuss potential applicants. Watch for posters in the coming months advertising public lectures from candidates who have been short-listed for an interview. We are excited about the growth of the Institute, as well as the contributions this person will make to Institute life and learning.

We hope to see you at the different events and activities of Institute life this fall!

Viviane Namaste – Acting Principal

NOTES FROM INSTITUTE FOLKS...

From the Simone de Beauvoir Institute READING ROOM

Just to remind you all that you have a great library call the Reading Room on the 4th floor of the Institute where you can borrow books (fiction and non-fiction); read and study quietly; search the Internet; work on group projects; etc.

My name is Isabelle, and I am your dedicated librarian. I am in the Reading Room Monday thru Thursday, and short of writing your paper, I'll help you in anyway I can! This is a service offered to all students but particularly to Women's Studies students. So come see me and don't wait until the last minute to start your paper (but if you do I won't hold it against you!) ☺

Enjoy the fall and Happy Halloween!

Isabelle ☺

A message from MARC LAFRANCE

SSHRC Post-Doctoral Fellow at the SdeB

My name is Marc Lafrance and I will be holding a two-year SSHRC post-doctoral fellowship at the Simone de Beauvoir Institute.

I earned my Masters and Doctoral degrees in French and Women's Studies at the University of Oxford. Throughout these degrees, I focused on questions of gender, sexuality, subjectivity and embodiment as they pertain to the work of a range of contemporary thinkers. Informed by feminist, queer and trans theory, I am presently involved in three research projects that relate to the following: 1) psychoanalysis and body image; 2) plastic surgery and the experience of embodiment; and 3) women, culture and popular music.

If you work in areas similar to mine and would like to meet, or are just interested in popping by for a chat, please contact me at: 848 2424 x 2372 or mllafranc@alcor.concordia.ca

Hope to see you all soon!
Marc

THE WOMEN'S STUDIES STUDENT'S ASSOCIATION (WSSA)

The Women's Studies Student Association (WSSA) consists of student representatives who support academic and creative endeavors that highlight social injustices pertinent to gender, class, race and ability inequalities.

Membership is open to all Women's Studies students. Throughout the year WSSA sponsors social and academic events for students as well as representing students' concerns on several Institute committees.

WSSA also publishes Subversions: The Journal of Gender and Sexuality which accepts written, photographic and creative works by students from all the faculties at Concordia.

If you would like more information, or would like to get involved please email us at:

who will discuss her new book:

Reproducing Inequalities: Poverty and the Politics of Population in Haiti

(New Jersey: Rutgers University Press, 2006)

Tuesday, November 14, 2006

Simone de Beauvoir Institute
2170 Bishop, Conference Room
MU 203 - 12:00 (noon)

In Reproducing Inequities, M. Catherine Maternowska argues that we too easily overlook the political dynamics that shape choices about family planning. Through a detailed study of the attempt to provide modern contraception in the community of Cité Soleil, Maternowska demonstrates the complex interplay between local and global politics that so often thwarts well-intended policy initiatives.

Dr. Maternowska is a medical anthropologist interested in exploring the ways that health-related policies can harm, rather than enhance public health and using ethnographic research as a tool for investigating how best to improve policy and ultimately practice. She is developing further studies on the social dynamics of NGO activities in health that assess the interface between international development, national counterparts and the poor communities they are supposed to serve.

Discourses of Denial

Mediations of Race, Gender, and Violence

Congratulations to SdB Research Associate Yasmin Jiwani on the release of her new book:

Discourses of Denial : Mediations of Race, Gender and Violence

University of British Columbia Press, 2005. www.ubcpress.ca/search/title_book.asp?BookID=4537

Discourses of Denial uncovers how racism, sexism, and violence interweave deep within the foundations of our society. Using examples from the lives of immigrant girls and women of colour, Yasmin Jiwani considers the way accepted definitions of race and gender shape and influence public consciousness. With a perspective both academic and activist, she exposes how media representations of violence serve the status quo and fail to tell the whole story about racialized and gendered inequalities.
